

K-Love is one of the most uplifting and positive airway broadcast for everyday American families. For the FCC not to support this continuing wavelength of broadcast capabilities would significantly begin to undermine the values that we as Americans strive to teach our children and neighbors. This vote on regulation should not only take into consideration the how? are things being delivered but just as important who? is delivering this service and the value to our communities